SHORT COUNTER AFFIDAVIT FILED ON BEHALF OF SUDARSHAN NEWS RESPONDENTS NO. 5

I, Suresh Chavhanke, S/o. Khanderao Chavhanke, aged about 47 years, I am Editor-in-Chief of Sudarshan News, Office at A-84, Sector-57, Noida, Uttar Pradesh-201307, do hereby solemnly affirm and state as under:

1. That I am Editor-in-Chief of Sudarshan News, the Respondent No.5 (“Answering Respondent”), in the above petition and I am competent to file this affidavit on its behalf. I am fully conversant with the facts and circumstances of the case hereinafter deposed.
2. That the Petitioner has sent copy of the writ petition on email to the deponent on 8.09.2020. The Petitioner has also filed additional documents on 13.09.2020. The intervention applications i.e. I.A. No.90940 of 2020, 91132 of 2020 and 91167 of 2020 which were filed on or about 12.09.2020 and 14.09.2020 were served upon my Advocate-on-record on 14.09.2020. The Answering Respondent requires some time to prepare detailed counter affidavit(s) to the contents of the petition and the intervention applications. In these circumstances, the deponent is filing a short counter affidavit in the matter and requests this Hon'ble Court to grant him some time to file a detailed counter affidavit.

3. At the outset, I request this Hon'ble Court to vacate the temporary injunction issued on 15.09.2020 so as to enable the Answering Respondent to carry the remaining episodes of the subject programme. It is respectfully submitted that for the reasons more particularly set out in this affidavit, there is no justification to continue the pre-telecast/prior restraint direction. This is particularly so in view of the public interest that will be served by allowing the programme to be broadcast.
4. Further at the outset, I state that I am running the news channel for the last 15 years. During this period, the channel has faithfully observed the programme code. To the best of this deponent's recollection and based on the records available in this short period, I say that no action has been taken by the concerned ministry in the past 15 years.
5. I am doing investigative journalism. I feel it is my duty to awaken the citizens and the Government about anti-national and anti-social activities and the modus operandi.
6. The Answering Respondent has broadcast four episodes at 8 P.M in "Bindas Bol" with a heading "UPSC Jihad". The Answering Respondent has used the words "UPSC Jihad" because it has come to the knowledge of the Answering Respondent through various sources that Zakat Foundation has received funds from various terror-linked organizations. It is not that all contributors to the Zakat Foundation are terror-linked. However, some of the contributors are linked to organizations or are organizations that fund extremist groups. The funds received by the Zakat Foundation, in turn, are used to support aspirants for IAS, IPS or UPSC.

7. I believe this is a matter of grave public interest. It is also a matter of national security. Consistent with the national security requirements of our country, there ought to be a public debate and discussion on the source of such funding. It is the debate and discussions arising from the subject programme which may cause the government to re-examine its policy with respect to such funding.
8. It is relevant to mention here that as per part IVA Fundamental Duties, it is the duty of every citizen i.e.-
 - “(a) to abide the Constitutions and respect its ideals and institutions, the National Flag and the National Anthem;
 - (b) to cherish and follow the Noble ideals which inspired our national struggle for freedom;
 - (c) to uphold and protect the sovereignty, unity and integrity of India;”
 therefore, it is the duty of the Answering Respondent and all the citizens joining UPSC to abide by the said ideals stated herein above. When it comes to light through various sources that funds contributed by tainted organizations are being used to facilitate people joining UPSC, there is a serious issue requiring public debate, discussion and scrutiny.
9. There is no statement or message in the four episodes broadcast that members of a particular community should not join UPSC. UPSC is an open competitive examination and members of every community may participate in the entrance examination and qualify. The thrust of the programme is that there appears to be a conspiracy which needs to be investigated by NIA or CBI. It appears that terror linked organizations are funding the Zakat Foundation of India, which in turn is supporting the UPSC aspirants.

10. Terrorism is a global menace. There are several international organizations that provide monetary support to extremists. The spread of extremist philosophy is undesirable and it is imperative that cross border funding that could encourage the spread of extremism should be stamped out.
11. During the course of my professional work I came across certain alarming facts to the effect that certain organizations working outside India have hatched a conspiracy to infiltrate the bureaucracy.
12. I found a number of documents, facts and figures that show the modus operandi of such organizations. It is on this basis that I prepared a story to broadcast on the Respondent news channel in the programme 'Bindas Bol' at 8.00 p.m. from 28.08.2020.
13. I emphasize here that I have no ill will against any community or any individual. I do not oppose the selection of any meritorious candidate in the service of the Union or the States and the same has been clearly stated by me during all the shows broadcast from 11.09.2020 till 14.09.2020.
14. My thrust and endeavour is to expose anti-national activities and the manner in which some persons are being recruited in All India Civil Service under a design to induct persons with the financial support of international fundamentalists to achieve their oblique motives in India, which may pose a serious threat to the security of India.
15. Deponent has broadcast the story relating to foreign funding of various overseas organizations connected with Zakat Foundation of India. The programme projects that the overseas organization appear to have links with certain extremists, terrorist and banned organizations and this is set out in the four episodes up till now.

16. Under the provisions of Section 17 of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967 if any person is collecting money from terrorist organization, terrorist gang or individual terrorist notwithstanding the fact that whether such funds were actually used or not for commission of such Act is punishable. Section 17 of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967 is as under:

“17- Punishment for raising funds for terrorist act. —Whoever, in India or in a foreign country, directly or indirectly, raises or collects funds or provides funds to any person or persons or attempts to provide funds to any person or persons, knowing that such funds are likely to be used by such person or persons to commit a terrorist act, notwithstanding whether such funds were actually used or not for commission of such act, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than five years but which may extend to imprisonment for life, and shall also be liable to fine.”

17. As per Section 6 of the National Investigation Agency Act, 2008 it is mentioned that on receipt of an information of any Scheduled Offence the same can be directed by the State Government or the Central Government to be investigated by the National Investigation Agency.
18. As per Section 9 of the Foreign Contribution Regulation Act, 2010 the Central Government has the power to prohibit any person from accepting foreign contribution.
19. The Answering Respondent, in light of the facts mentioned herein about the foreign funding of Zakat Foundation of India, has raised questions with regard to whether its activities are required to be investigated. This deponent believes that he is well within his fundamental rights to speak about these issues including on the television channel.
20. A request was made on behalf of the answering Respondent channel through a mediator on 28.08.2020 seeking to invite Syed Zafar Mahmood the founder of Zakat Foundation of India (ZFI) and confirmation was received through the mediator to the answering Respondent channel on 06.09.2020. The message received was that ZFI would participate in the debate. An invitation was also sent on 12.09.2020 to Syed Zafar Mahmood the founder of Zakat Foundation of India (ZFI) by Sudharshan Channel on email id:- info@zakatindia.org. An invitation was also sent on 12.09.2020 to Syed Zafar Mahmood the founder of Zakat Foundation of India (ZFI) by Sudharshan Channel on phone no.9810334141. A unit of the channel comprising of a journalist with a camera person was also sent on 12.09.2020 to an address i.e. 'Zakat Foundation of India, CISRS House, 14-B Jungpura, Mathura Road, New Delhi-110014 (facing hotel Rajdoot building. The purpose of this unit visiting the location was to enable participation in a live telecast so that responses and points of view could be projected to the audience. Another unit of the channel comprising of a journalist with a camera person was also sent on 12.09.2020 to the residential address of Syed Zafar Mahmood the founder of Zakat Foundation of India (ZFI) but the same was not allowed by the police to stand in front of the house therefore, the unit stood nearby. An open request was also made from 12.09.2020 till 14.09.2020 to participate in debate conducted by the answering Respondent. In all the three episodes i.e. 12/13/14.09.2020 a chair was kept vacant for Syed Zafar Mahmood the founder of Zakat Foundation of India or a representative's participation in the debate.

- ii) As per a report by non-profit research group i.e. The Investigative Project on Terrorism (IPT) of United States of America, Zakat Foundation of America's executive director is Khalil Demir. Khalil Demir has signed the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS) 990 forms for Benevolence International Foundation (BIF) which US Treasury(U.S. Government) found guilty in the year 2002 for funding Al-Qaeda.
- iii) In addition to serving Benevolence International Foundation (BIF), Khalil Demir also has worked with the terror-tied Turkish Humanitarian Relief Organization (IHH). 22. It is clear from the above that the Deponent is serving the nation by giving relevant information to the public and the Government to secure the future of India.
 23. As a journalist it is my duty to work fearlessly and freely. The disgruntled persons are trying to misinterpret the facts stated by me as they do not want that full facts may come before the nation otherwise the conspiracy hatched by them will be exposed.
 24. The answering Respondent states that a minority community is taking benefit of OBC and minority scheme simultaneously and the same is a political and social issue which is why we are seeking a debate. The answering Respondent has further questioned whether the benefits granted to OBC from a minority community must be reviewed. It is respectfully submitted that in this context there was a graphic of 32 years 'General candidate' compared with 35 years OBC minority candidate. The answering Respondent while explaining the graphic had clarified that it is for Muslim OBC and not for General category Muslims candidate.

25. If a news channel is raising an objection of Muslims taking benefit of OBC quota the same cannot be communal and in this country time and again these questions and this debates are in public domain. The answering respondent has just raised a question as to how benefit of minority scheme along with Muslim OBCs are taken simultaneously and the same amounts to discrimination against the other segments of the society. The intervention application i.e. I.A. No.91132/2020 has projected a wrong impression by showing a slide at page 104 of the said application wherein the answering Respondent compared the maximum age of a candidate who can attempt for UPSC that is for general candidate age is 32 years and for UPSC Muslim OBC candidate is age is 35 years. The answering Respondent while explaining the said slide in episode 1 and later on also has explained and clarified that certain sections of citizens feel discriminated by Muslim OBC candidates getting benefit of age relaxation and also getting benefited of various minority welfare schemes floated by the Central Government. It is in this regard a graphic was projected wherein how a person who starts the race from the same point gets discriminated by the Muslim OBC candidate who gets the benefit of age relaxation, number of attempts in UPSC and also the financial schemes of Central Government for minority (Nai Udaan and Naya Savera).
26. If the answering Respondent is coming to know from the various segments of the society through various sources that inclusion of a certain minority in the OBC category is wrong and if the same is broadcast the speech is protected. It is constitutionally permissible. In a democratic setup the citizens of the country can always raise a demand from the Parliamentarians to make appropriate laws. Media is the fourth pillar of the democratic set up and to raise thought provoking issues is also the constitutional right and duty of the answering Respondent. The answering Respondent had stated from the very beginning of the programme that he should not be judged merely on each episode and all his ten episodes must be seen to understand the perspective which the answering Respondent is trying to project.

27. It is a matter of fact that as per the scheme of Central Government an amount of Rs.20 crores is spent for support of students clearing prelims conducted by UPSC, SSC, and State Public Service Commissions. The schemes are known as (Nai Udaan and Naya Savera) and are available only to minority communities. The aforesaid scheme has been passed by Central Government budget 2019-20 issued by Ministry of Minority Affairs.

29. That in the case of Brij Bhushan & Anr. vs. State of Delhi reported in 1950 SCR Pg.605 the issue arose on the question of law imposing pre-censorship on newspaper for securing public safety and preventing public disorder wherein this Hon'ble Court by majority of 5:1 held that imposition of pre-censorship on a journal is a restriction on the liberty of the Press, at page 608 it has been held as under:

“There can be little doubt that the imposition of pre-censorship on a journal is a restriction on the liberty of the press which is an essential part of the right to freedom of speech and expression declared by article 19 (1)(a). As pointed out by Blackstone in his Commentaries "the liberty of the press consists in laying no previous restraint upon publications, and not in freedom from censure for criminal matter when published. Every freeman has an undoubted right to lay what sentiments he pleases before the public; to forbid this, is to destroy the freedom of the press(1). The only question therefore is whether section 7 (1)(c) which authorizes the imposition-of such a restriction falls within the reservation of clause (2) of article 19. As this question turns on considerations which are essentially the same as those on which our decision in Petition No. XVI of 1950(2) was based, our judgment in that case concludes the present case also. Accordingly, for the reasons indicated in that judgment, we allow this petition and hereby quash the impugned order of the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, dated the 2nd March, 1950”.

30. That in the case of Common Cause vs. Union of India reported in 2018(13) SCC Pg.400 a question was raised at para 3 that:

“Para 3. The primary issue, which arises for consideration in the instant case, is with reference to the introduction of a complaint redressal mechanism. Such a mechanism is sought in respect of complaints made against television and radio programmes. Illustratively, our attention has been drawn to the Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995, and to the rules framed thereunder, namely, Cable Television Networks Rules, 1994...”

The precise contention which was raised by the Petitioner in above mentioned matter was that there is no define complain redressal mechanism with reference to violation of code of conduct set out for television programmes. In this case following contentions and decision is stated under:-

“para 7. Mr Yashank Adhyaru, learned Senior Counsel, representing the Union of India, has invited our attention to the fact, that besides the aforesaid self-regulatory mechanism, there is an existing governmental mechanism, which looks into complaints with reference to television and radio programmes. In this behalf, learned counsel pointed out the following observations, recorded in the counter-affidavit filed on behalf of Respondent 1:

“It is this resolve of the Government which gave birth to the self-regulation. As stated in the preliminary submissions, this Ministry has self-regulatory body like BCCC, NBSAm ASCI to look into the violations of Programme/Advertising Codes of Cable Television Networks Rules, 1994. Besides, EMMC monitors about 300 private TV channels for any violation of the above rules. In specific cases of violation, the EMMC refers the matter to this respondent. This respondent, in turn, issues show-cause notice to the alleged erring channel(s) to allow them an opportunity of fair justice before the matter is placed before IMC for deliberation and appropriate recommendation. Their recommendations are finally considered by the competent authority in Ministry of Information & Broadcasting (this respondent) and action as found suitable is taken on the recommendation of the IMC. Following the above mechanism, in the last 5 years 63 warnings, 18 off-air penalties have been issued by this respondent.

Further Ministry of Information and Broadcasting also issued orders on 25-4-2005 (also available on website of the Ministry www.mib.nic.in) constituting an Inter-Ministerial Committee (IMC) under the chairmanship of the Addl. Secretary (I&B) and comprising officers drawn from various Ministries of Central Government viz. Home Affairs, Defence, External Affairs, Law & Justice, Women and Child Development, Health & Family Welfare, Consumer Affairs (at Joint Secretary level) and Advertising Standards Council of India (ASCI) as an industry representative, to look into specific complaints regarding violation of the Programme Code and Advertising Code, as defined in Rules 6 and 7 of the Cable Television Networks Rules, 1994. The said Inter-Ministerial Committee (IMC) accords focused and careful attention to the cases of violation of Programme and Advertising Codes and makes appropriate recommendations, after application of mind to the facts of each case and review of the programmes, in question.”

Para 8. Insofar as, the capacity of Electronic Media Monitoring Centre (EMMC) is concerned, our attention was drawn to the factual position depicted in Para 10(i) of the counter-affidavit (filed by the Union of India), wherein it has been expressed, that EMMC had the capacity to conduct 24×7 monitoring of 150 channels in the year 2010-2011. The said capacity, it was averred, would be enhanced to 1500 channels, by the end of the year 2017. Based on the aforesaid factual position, it was submitted, that the regulatory mechanism sought by the petitioner, is in place, and that, no further directions are called for.

9. Besides the submissions advanced on behalf of the Union of India, as have been narrated above, it is also the contention of the learned counsel representing Respondents 2, 3 and 5, that the issue under consideration is delicate, and that, media rights contemplated under Article 19 of the Constitution, need be kept in mind. It is, therefore, the assertion of the learned counsel representing Respondents 2, 3 and 5, that the norms stipulated under Rule 6 (extracted hereinabove) need to be interpreted in a manner as would be sustainable, within the framework of Article 19 of the Constitution.

10. Having given our thoughtful consideration, to the submissions advanced at the hands of the learned counsel for the rival parties, we are satisfied in concluding, that there is indeed an existing mechanism, as has been referred to by the learned counsel representing the Union of India. However, the above mechanism, is not known to the general public. We are therefore of the view, that the same needs adequate publication. We, therefore, hereby direct the Union of India, to publish the mechanism, which has been brought to our notice, and is partly extracted hereinabove. This would enable complainants, to air their grievances, before the appropriate forum and to obtain a determination thereof, at the hands of the competent authority concerned, in the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting.

11. Even though we have concluded in the manner recorded hereinabove, we are of the view, that the Central Government, having framed Rules in the nature of Cable Television Networks

Rules, 1994, would be well advised, to frame similar Rules, in exercise of the power vested with it under Section 22 of the Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995, to formalise the complaint redressal mechanism, including the period of limitation within which a complaint can be filed, and the statutory authority concerned which shall adjudicate upon the same, including the appellate and other redressal mechanisms, leading to a final conclusive determination. We, therefore, hereby recommend, that the Central Government, within the framework of Section 22 of the Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995, deliberate on the issue, and take a conscious decision thereon, and to finalize a similar statutory framework for radio programmes, as well. Till the above issue is considered and finalized, the existing mechanism of complaint redressal shall remain in place.”

31. That in light of the above it is amply clear that there is a mechanism existing in place which can be resorted to by the Petitioners and intervenors. The answering Respondent is filing this short counter affidavit and will also further bring on record more materials which are a threat to sovereignty and integrity of India.

ANNEXURE R-3

India Must Shut Down Western Radical Charities

by Sam Westrop

Firstpost

August 26, 2020

<https://www.meforum.org/islamist-watch/61427/india-must-shut-down-western-radical-charities>

With various proscriptions and inquiries into Islamist groups recently introduced, it seems the Indian government has thoroughly woken up to the threat posed by Islamist movements active across South Asia. Security services, politicians and media have recently paid particularly close attention to the danger of Jamaat-e-Islami in Pakistan and Kashmir, and their branches and proxies' links to terrorist plots against Indian troops and civilians.

But Islamism is never a parochial affair. Every Islamist group, no matter how locally focused, makes use of international networks of support, and relies on infrastructure closely intertwined with civil society. Today, Western Islamist charities, funded by Western governments and linked to international Islamist movements such as Jamaat-e-Islami, operate throughout India with impunity.

These charities have long histories of subsidizing terrorism and enabling extremism. One of the most egregious examples is Muslim Aid.

Radical Management

Founded in London in 1985, Muslim Aid has grown into one of the largest Islamic charities in the world, boasting revenue of tens of millions of pounds each year. Outside of its headquarters in the UK, it operates branches, offices and various affiliate entities in a dozen countries across Africa and Asia, with prominent fundraising offices in Sweden and the United States as well.

From the beginning, Muslim Aid's officials have been tied closely to Jamaat-e-Islami (JI). In 2013, a Bangladeshi war crimes tribunal sentenced to death in absentia one of the charity's early leaders, Chowdhury Mueen-Uddin, for his role leading a JI killing squad that abducted and murdered 18 people during the country's 1971 Liberation War.

Muslim Aid board chairmen have included Manazir Ahsan, a leading British Islamist who helped to coordinate Islamist riots in the UK against novelist Salman Rushdie over his book, The Satanic Verses; and Iqbal Sacranie, another infamous British Islamist who said of Rushdie: "Death, perhaps, is a bit too easy for him."

Other Muslim Aid officials have included Manzair Ahsan, who is also closely involved with the Islamic Foundation, JI's UK-based thinktank. His colleagues there have included former Muslim Aid official Farooq Murad, the son of Khurram Murad, who has led both the Bangladeshi and Pakistani branches of JI. In 2003, The Times reported that two Islamic Foundation trustees were on the UN sanctions list of people associated with the Taliban and al-Qaeda.

Terror Ties

With this violence-tied management, it comes as little surprise that Muslim Aid has repeatedly been found involved with a number of terror networks. In 2010, following investigative work by British media and an inquiry by Britain's charity regulator, Muslim Aid was found (and admitted) to have been funding a number of front organizations for the terrorist groups Hamas and Palestinian Islamic Jihad.

Muslim Aid's terror links are not limited just to the Palestinian territories. Counter-terrorism analyst Chris Blackburn notes that Muslim Aid's Australian branch has supported jihadist-funding organizations in Indonesia; government agencies in Bangladesh included Muslim Aid in a list of ten Islamic charities supporting Islamist terrorism; and Spanish police have declared that Muslim Aid financed jihadists in Bosnia in the 1990s.

In the United States, documents acquired by the Middle East Forum show that in 2015, the Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Asset Control (which is tasked with stopping the flow of monies to terrorist groups) looked into Muslim Aid as a potential terror financier.

In Pakistan, meanwhile, both the UK and Pakistani branches of Muslim Aid partner openly with Al Khidmat, the "charitable" arm of Jamaat-e-Islami's Pakistani arm. Al Khidmat publicly works with Hizbul Mujahdeen, the Kashmiri militant wing of Jamaat-e-Islami and a designated terrorist group in both India and the United States.

This Pakistan branch is particularly shadowy. In 2009, it appointed a senior official of Pakistan's infamous, terror-connected Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) as chairman of its board of trustees.

Other terrorist operatives have made use of Muslim Aid's infrastructure. In 2012, three terrorist operatives used Muslim Aid identities to raise money for a series of suicide bombings. Although Muslim Aid was apparently unaware of this scheme, Britain's charity regulator later censured the organization for having "insufficient measures in place to monitor its spending" and activities, leading British officials to fear, among other things, that it might be "inadvertently funding a proscribed terrorist organisation." Concerns over the charity's management have continued to surface over the past few years.

Muslim Aid India

Despite this extraordinary array of terror links and overt extremism, Muslim Aid is active on both sides of the Line of Control in Kashmir, and well as throughout India. Although it claims to have operated a field office in the country since 2005, this was not its first appearance: a British Islamist publication from 1992 features a call for donations to "Muslim Aid - India" in the wake of the notorious destruction of the Babri Mosque in Uttar Pradesh.

Today, Muslim Aid India appears to operate primarily out of Hyderabad. But management of the charity is not exactly local. Its two leading officials, Mirza Feroz Baig and Jafer Hussain Qureshi, are involved with a string of companies and charities registered in the United Kingdom. Several of these organizations have declared addresses on incorporation paperwork registered to a single house in the English city of Birmingham, which property records obtained by the Middle East Forum show to be owned by Qureshi.'

Muslim Aid's Qureshi, it seems, has been helping for years to manage the affairs of the terror-connected international Islamist operative Zakir Naik. One of the companies previously registered to Qureshi's address is Universal Broadcasting Corporation Limited, a key component of Zakir Naik's network, and which serves as the umbrella organization for Naik's infamous Peace TV media outlets and various companies.

Perhaps the most famous radical preacher in the world, Naik lives in exile in Malaysia, where he is currently the target of an extradition request by Indian authorities on charges of money laundering and allegations of terrorism links. Law enforcement blame Naik's preaching for the radicalization of hundreds of jihadist recruits. Because of his extremism, he is banned from entering a number of other countries, including the UK and Canada.

And yet it is in the UK where Naik operates his most significant network of companies outside India, all with the help of a senior Muslim Aid official.

Along with Qureshi, both Zakir Naik and his wife, Farhat, have been listed in company registration documentation as directors of the Universal Broadcasting Corporation, with Farhat's address listed as Qureshi's house. Farhat, along with a number of Naik's other companies, are believed to be part of Naik's extensive money laundering effort.

Moreover, documents gathered by the Middle East Forum reveal that this enterprising trio, along with other trustees from Qureshi's other companies, are also listed as trustees of the UK office of the Islamic Research Foundation (IRF), which India banned in 2016. In fact, Muslim Aid India's Qureshi has been a director of almost all of Naik's UK businesses and charities.

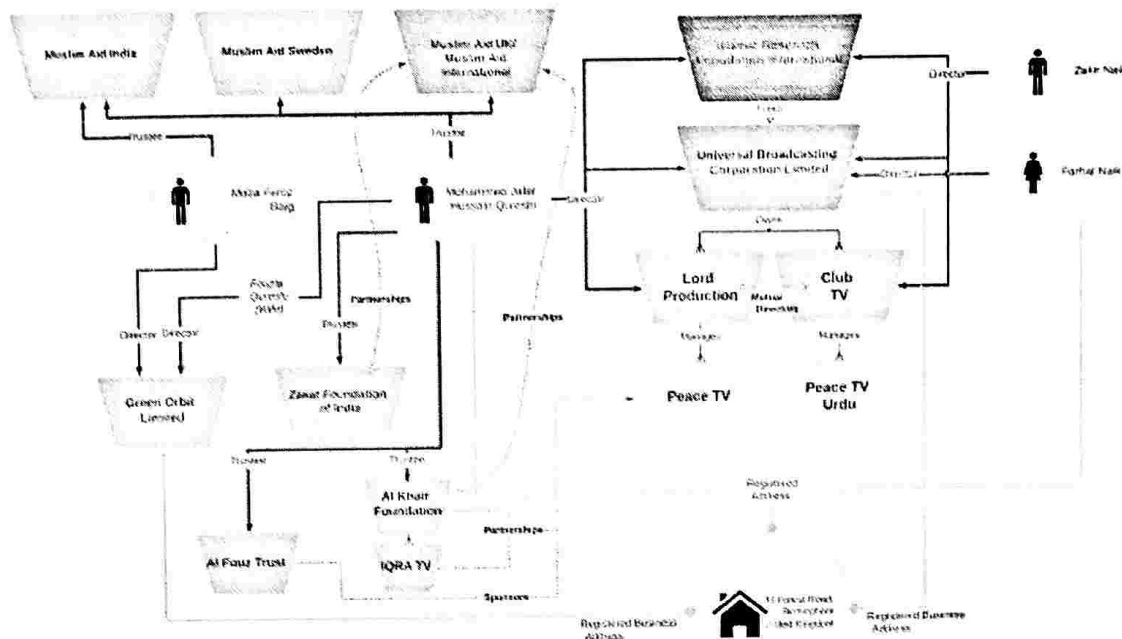

In May, Britain's media watchdog issued a £300,000 fine against Peace TV and its various parent companies (with which Qureshi has also been involved) for inciting murder and broadcasting hate speech. The outlet shut down its UK broadcasting in November just before regulators were expected to rescind its license. Britain's Charity Commission, meanwhile, recently opened an investigation into IRF, citing concerns over its close links to Peace TV.

Qureshi, who has also served as a trustee of Muslim Aid's UK headquarters as well as Muslim Aid Sweden, is involved with a number of other prominent Islamist charities. He runs the Zakat Foundation of India, where his colleagues include Syed Zafar Mahmood, a prominent anti-Modi activist who in 2018, on behalf of the Zakat Foundation, publicly denounced the ban of the terror-tied Popular Front of India (PFI). Qureshi has also served of chairman of the Al Fouz Trust, a British charity that operates in South Asia. Emma Webb, in a report for the Henry Jackson Society, notes that Al Fouz Trust has previously reported "sponsoring the programs" on Zakir Naik's Peace TV of Abdurraheem Green, a prominent Salafi hate preacher and former jihadist.

Finally, Qureshi is a trustee of the Al-Khair Foundation, a charity that runs that radical television station IQRA TV. Al-Khair has often partnered with Muslim Aid, while also maintaining close ties to Zakir Naik and his network (in fact, it appears to have been an invitation to an Al-Khair Foundation conference that prompted Zakir Naik's ban from entering the United Kingdom).

India Must Shut Down Western Radical Charities :: Islamist Watch

Click to see larger version

Within India, Jamaat-e-Islami and Zakir Naik (who belongs to the Ahl-e-Hadith sect of Islam) may represent two separate, dangerous threats; but outside India, it appears, its advocates are working closely together.

Muslim Aid India, just as with other Muslim Aid branches, appears to be controlled by a close-knit cell of prominent Islamists with international connections to notorious terror-tied extremists. This Birmingham-Hyderabad network deserves extensive investigation by both Indian and Western law enforcement.

An Uphill Battle

Despite all this evidence of extremism, however, the Muslim Aid franchise has enjoyed significant support from Western governments. The group received more than $1.5 million from the U.S. Agency for International Development in 2013, handed over just three years after the charity admitted to funding proxies for the designated terrorist organization, Hamas. The European Union has given millions to the Islamist charity - 600,000 Euros in 2017 alone.

There is some evidence, however, that Muslim Aid's luck is running out. British government support for Muslim Aid, meanwhile, has drastically diminished over the past decade, with documents published on British government websites now openly naming Muslim Aid as Jamaat-e-Islami-connected.

Britain's Charity Commission, meanwhile, has conducted repeated investigations into Muslim Aid's management.

Muslim Aid is not, of course, the only Western Jamaati charity active in India. Helping Hand for Relief and Development – the international aid arm of the Jamaat-e-Islami's branch in the United States – also operates on both sides of the LoC in Kashmir. In 2018, the Middle East Forum revealed that Helping Hand had been openly working with Lashkar-e-Taiba, the terror group responsible for the deadly 2008 Mumbai attacks. In the past, Helping Hand's parent organization, the JI-founded Islamic Circle of North America, has run events with known ISI agents.

It's time for the Indian government and its law enforcement agencies to focus closely on these radical groups and counteract their influence. Where exactly in Kashmir is the money raised by Western Islamist charities ending up? Are these Islamist charities linked to the ISI? Do they continue to work with other South Asian jihadists?

Over the past few years, the Indian government has taken some bold steps in the battle against domestic extremist groups. However, while India has woken up to the threat of Islamism's local violent cheerleaders, the government and security services risk overlooking Islamist movements' quieter, international underpinnings – a pernicious global network providing financial, logistical and ideological support, led by registered charities from the West using programs of benevolence as a fig leaf for terror and extremism.

Ultimately, if the threat of Islamism in India is to be tackled, then charities such as Muslim Aid, Helping Hand for Relief and Development must be proscribed.

Sam Westrop is director of Islamist Watch, a project of the Middle East Forum.

Investigation Exposes Terror Ties Behind Islamist Charity's Humanitarian Facade :: The Investigative Project on Terrorism

Investigation Exposes Terror Ties Behind Islamist Charity's Humanitarian Facade

by Abha Shankar and Martha Lee

IPT News, Middle East Forum

April 6, 2020

A prominent American Islamist charity is publicizing its role in the nationwide coronavirus emergency response effort.

"Zakat Foundation of America stepped up its nationwide coronavirus emergency response ... delivering thousands of direly needed medical-grade gloves to two far South Side Safety-Net hospitals in Chicago," said the Illinois-based Islamist charity in a March 27 press release.

"We're all in as a frontline charitable provider helping people survive COVID-19, on every level — financially, medically, nutritionally, mentally and spiritually," executive director Halil Demir said in the release. (Demir also spells his first name "Khalil.")

Image from Zakat Foundation YouTube video.

Since its 2001 founding, the Zakat Foundation claims to "have empowered millions of people to recover from disasters and escape poverty by taking control of their own lives." A timeline on the charity's website showcases its humanitarian accomplishments over the years, from providing aid to Iraq war victims to establishing a university for refugees in Turkey.

But behind the Zakat Foundation's outward humanitarian façade lie longstanding terror ties that include support for Hamas- and al-Qaida-tied charities, a joint investigation by the Investigative Project of Terrorism and the Middle East Forum finds.

The misuse of Islamist charitable organizations to support terror is not new. American Islamist charities have been known to use humanitarian assistance as a cover to solicit funds for terrorist groups.

"While some terrorist supporters create sham charities as a cover to raise and move funds, other terrorist groups and their supporters use charities to provide funds or otherwise dispense critical social or humanitarian services to vulnerable populations in an effort to radicalize communities and build local support," says the Treasury Department's 2015 National Terrorist Financing Risk Assessment.

Soon after the 9/11 attacks, several American Islamist charities were either designated terrorist financiers by Treasury or raided by federal authorities on suspicion of funding terror. A prime example is the prosecution of the Texas charity Holy Land Foundation for Relief and Development (HLF) and its senior leaders in what is described as the largest terrorism financing case in U.S. history. In 2008, a jury convicted HLF and five former leaders for illegally routing more than $12 million to Hamas.

One of Demir's previous employers also attracted scrutiny from the federal government.

Before founding Zakat Foundation in 2001, Demir worked for the Benevolence International Foundation (BIF). A business card identified him as "Public Relations Officer," and an IRS tax filing from 2000 states that, "The books are in care of Halil I. Demir."

The Treasury Department designated BIF and related entities as terror financiers in 2002. The Illinois-based BIF and its director, Enaam Arnaout, were charged the same year with misusing charitable contributions to support al-Qaida and other terrorist groups overseas. Later, Arnaout confessed to using his charity to support Mujahideen fighters in Bosnia and Chechnya.

Arnaout served "as an administrator" for Osama bin Laden, a United Nations Security Council report said, "at times disbursing funds on his behalf." He admitted that BIF solicited money for humanitarian needs, "including refugees and orphans," concealing the fact that it "was being used to support fighters" in Chechnya with uniforms, boots, tents and other supplies.

In addition to serving BIF, Demir also has worked with the terror-tied Turkish Humanitarian Relief Organization (IHH). A 2010 news release on the Turkish charity's relief efforts in earthquake-hit Haiti describes Demir as an "IHH aid coordinator." The same year, IHH also referred to the Zakat Foundation as a "partner institution."

IHH has helped fund the Hamas military wing, which used the money to buy weapons and build training facilities, Israel's Ministry of Foreign Relations said. IHH has been designated a terrorist organization by Israel, Germany and the Netherlands. IHH was a key player in the 2010 Free Gaza Movement flotilla that sought to break a blockade on Gaza. Ten people were killed when one of the boats refused to turn back and passengers attacked Israeli commandos as they tried to board.

Reports from that time allege that IHH distributed aid to the Salafist group Ahrar al Sham, which fought alongside ISIS and the al-Qaida affiliate Jabhat al-Nusra. Turkish authorities additionally found evidence that IHH not only recruits militants for al-Qaida and other terrorist groups, but also provides terrorist groups access to arms and medical treatment.

According to a 2009 IHH report, "The US-based Zakat Foundation and Helping Hand, with which the IHH co-organizes social projects in different regions, sent $80,000 and $30,000 respectively to Gaza through the IHH."

Helping Hand is the overseas charitable arm of the Islamic Circle of North America, which has been described as "openly affiliated" with the Sunni revivalist movement Jamaat-e-Islami (JI). The charity has partnered with people closely tied to the U.S.-designated Kashmiri terrorist organization, Hizbul Mujahideen and its leader Syed Salahuddin. Zakat Foundation also partners with the Al-Khidmat Foundation, JI Pakistan's charitable arm.

Despite these documented connections, often promoted by the charities involved, Demir denies his and his organization's terror ties. He blames terror financing crackdowns targeting American Muslim charities after the 9/11 attacks on "Islamophobia."

"The Islamophobia was so strong, emotions ran so high against the Muslim community that whenever we tried to do good work, some people and organizations tried to portray us as bad guys," Demir says in an advertisement for his book, 9 Myths About Muslim Charities: Stories from the Zakat Foundation of America.

Demir made similar accusations in a January interview with the Daily Southtown. "This is propaganda, Islamophobia of white supremacists and hate groups that spread poison against the Muslim community and charities that do great work," he said.

Demir's book bashes national and international agencies for demanding transparency and oversight of Muslim charities. For instance, he calls the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) global terror finance watchdog "the most powerful and pernicious entity in the world," and asserts that "FATF's recommendations, and counterterrorism financing in general, constitute a complex ineffective sham."

The book also criticizes a 1996 CIA "Report on NGOs with Terror Links": "This two-decade-old CIA-write-up's simple-minded, unvetted, erroneous presumption of a 'regular correlation between Muslim humanitarian organizations and terrorist activity' – which shows nothing more than chauvinism—still underpins global policy of transgressing the civil rights of American Muslim charities."

Terrorists are known to use "charities to provide funds or otherwise dispense critical social or humanitarian services to vulnerable populations in an effort to radicalize communities and build local support," the 2015 National Terrorist Financing Risk Assessment said.

Hamas' dramatic 2006 election victory was fueled in part by its social welfare networks that received funding from American Islamist charities. In fact, the Holy Land Foundation was part of a network called the "Palestine Committee" that the Muslim Brotherhood created to advance Hamas's agenda politically and financially in the United States.

The Zakat Foundation has also generously supported the Islamic Charitable Society (ICS) in Hebron. In 2003, Zakat Foundation "worked in coordination with the Islamic Charitable Society in Hebron to supply $10,000" worth of school supplies to Palestinian children. This is not the first time that the ICS has received funding from U.S.-based charities. HLF gave ICS more than $1.6 million between 1991 and 2001. In 2002, German intelligence services described ICS as "the most important HAMAS association in the West Bank" and concluded that its leadership included "numerous" Hamas members.

The Zakat Foundation's work with ICS and association with Hamas continues. It announced in 2017 that it had "taken on costs for 200 students" of the ICS's Al Rahma School. Dina Karmi, an Arabic teacher at Al Rahma, is the widow of Nashaat al-Karmi, Hamas's southern West Bank armed wing leader. Israeli anti-terror police shot and killed him in 2010 in a raid connected with the murder of four Israelis.

In 2018, Israel's Shin Bet arrested Dina Karmi for "serving as the 'operational arm'" of a ring that "operated in coordination with both Hamas headquarters abroad and in the Gaza Strip."

A year earlier, ICS officials expressed their "deepest of thanks to Zakat Foundation" for its support, and "especially" its executive director Khalil Demir.

Zakat Foundation lists a U.S.-based Islamist charity called Baitulmaal as a partner. The Israeli government in 2006 accused Baitulmaal co-founder Sheikh Hasan Hajmohammad of funding a Hamas charity.

However, instead of calling for more intensive oversight of an Islamist charity with established terror ties, U.S. government officials continue to engage with the Zakat Foundation. In 2017, the charity co-sponsored an Iftar dinner with New York Mayor Bill de Blasio's office. Last year, Halil Demir was invited to Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot's 100th Day Recognition.

Today, as the nation ramps up its fight against the coronavirus pandemic, the Chicago mayor's office "now keeps contact with Zakat Foundation and has welcomed its creative capacity and stalwart efforts, as do an ensemble of social service agencies, not only in Chicago, but in key metro areas across the nation."

For decades, Islamist charities have hidden their terror funding and support under a charitable guise, sometimes winning acclaim and support from federal government officials and others for their efforts. The terror-tied Zakat Foundation's response to the coronavirus pandemic, is the kind of thing that might provide a public benefit, but it also serves as a building block toward legitimacy, opening doors at City Hall and elsewhere.

It also helps the organization further obscure its work with charities tied to Hamas and al-Qaida.
